WHO CARES?

*Submitted by Peggy Koster, Vice President
Delaware Equine Council, DEC Trails Committee Chair*

Did you know that in 2025, 25% of our population will be Seniors over 65? So...who will be promoting the horse industry? Who cares? The Delaware Equine Council cares!

We are trying to get the younger folks more involved and the kids more interested. If you have a little extra time and would like to see equines in our fields and pastures in Delaware in 2025, come to one of our meetings. They are the third Monday of each month, except December, at 7 p.m. at the Harrington Public Library.

Do you enjoy riding on public lands? There are more people coming to Delaware every day, but not more land! According to ELCR (Equestrian Land Conservation Resource) we are losing 250 acres to development every hour.

Who Cares? The Delaware Equine Council does. We meet annually or more often if needed, with the managers of our public lands in Delaware.

If there are issues or concerns let us hear from you! We are a phone call away. Call any Director or member of your Trails Committee, with concerns or if you have time to help!

Whenever you have equine-related questions or need information, who do you call? Someone who cares: The Delaware Equine Council...we are here continuing to promote, protect and enhance the keeping of equine in the First State!

We wish to see our college graduates come back to Delaware as vets, farriers and many other equine related jobs. One of the ways we support them is through scholarship funds earned at our annual dinner/dance in March.

WE CARE!

If you you are not a member, come and join us if you care. The future of the equine industry depends on the "people who care!" We hope that includes YOU!
